Sen. McCarthy Plans Attending Probe Monday

But Embattled Solon Doesn't Say Whether He May Walk Out

WASHINGTON (AP) — Sen. McCarthy kept Capitol Hill guessing today whether he is trying to set up a basis for his accused staff aides to walk out of the hearings on his row with Army officials.

From sources close to the Wisconsin Republican came word that he has told associates he now plans no walkout of his own after the televised public investigation resumes Monday, but that his mind could be changed.

"I will be there Monday," McCarthy told newsmen.

He emphasized, however, that "I make no promises" about how long he will stay, and he fired a new blast at President Eisenhower's order forbidding witnesses from the executive branch of government to give certain testimony McCarthy says is essential to his case.

"I don't see why the President should be afraid to let them tell the truth," he said. He likened the order to invoking the Fifth Amendment to the Constitution, which declares that no witness may be compelled to testify against himself.

IN THE HEARINGS The Senate Investigations Subcommittee is searching for the truth in misconduct charges top Pentagon officials and McCarthy have flung at each other.

Secretary of the Army Stevens and Army Counselor John G. Adams have accused McCarthy and two subcommittee aides of using improper pressures in efforts to win favored Army treatment for Pvt. G. David Schine, a former member of the subcommittee staff.

McCarthy and the two aides, Roy M. Cohn and Francis P. Carr, have countercharged that Stevens and Adams sought to use Schine as a "hostage" to get McCarthy to drop a search for communism in the Army.

McCarthy has stepped aside temporarily as chairman of the subcommittee, but retains chairmanship of the parent body, the Senate Government Operations Committee.

The McCarthy camp let out word last night that the Wisconsin senator is exploring with parliamentarians whether as chairman of the parent body he has authority to cancel subpoenas issued by the subcommittee or its temporary chairman, Sen. Mundt (R-S.D.).

Ohio's Highest Judge Ignores Arrest Threat

COLUMBUS (AP)—Ohio's highest judge will be in Youngstown today to address a meeting of the Ohio Bar Assn. although another judge threatens to have him arrested there.

Chief Justice Carl V. Weygandt of the Ohio Supreme Court told newsmen yesterday he would go to Youngstown "as scheduled," then fly to Washington for meetings of the American Law Institute.

Judge Walter B. Wanamaker of the Summit County Common Pleas Court has threatened to seek the arrest of Weygandt. Wanamaker contends a Supreme Court opinion changing a sentence Wanamaker imposed on a self-identified Communist libeled him.

Wanamaker sentenced Frank Hashmall to consecutive prison terms for false registration of a car. The Supreme Court made them concurrent, cutting Hashmall's sentence in half.

In its opinion, the high court said Wanamaker apparently failed to administer even-handed justice. The Akron judge contends that part of the opinion libeled him. The chief justice also ignored a subpoena issued to require him to answer questions in connection with Wanamaker's attempt to have the opinion reversed.

Ohio Girl Wins Queen Title

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Jacquelyn Dumbauld, 19, a dark-haired blue-eyed girl from Worthington, Ohio, today was named College Queen of America on the Queen for a Day radio program.

Miss Dumbauld, part Indian and junior student at Monticello College, Altamonte, Ill., was selected for the annual title on the basis of her wish as told to the studio audience.

Miss Dumbauld expressed a wish that her mother might have some electrical appliances for her home.

Her father died six weeks ago and her mother has had to go to work to help support her family. There are two sons and another daughter.

Tait Announces New CD Offices, Warns Again More Cash Needed

Pickaway County Civil Defense Director Bernard Tait announced Friday he has set up an office in the courthouse here, and that he hopes to confer in Columbus Sunday with other CD officials of the region.

The chief of the county's emergency planning also reiterated that his organization, showing signs of a general revival, "is certainly going to need more money." He explained the fund now available here for CD purposes amounts to approximately $600.

That amount is the remainder of $1,000 recently allocated by the city and county—on a 50-50 basis—in order to qualify for federal and state matching funds. Tait has already purchased medical supplies and CD training equipment, using state-federal money and $400 from the local allocation.

Tait's office is located in one of the rooms assigned to Pickaway County Sheriff Charles H. Radcliff on the main floor of the courthouse. The CD director said he planned to have signs placed to point out the location.

MEANWHILE, he added, his office will need a filing case, typewriter, letter-head supplies and possibly other items.

On Sunday, Tait hopes to have a Pickaway County representative present at a regional CD conference scheduled in Columbus. He said he was not sure, however, whether he himself could attend.

Opening of CD headquarters is the latest step in a recent reawakening of the emergency planning for Pickaway County. Local officials have been told this area would be expected to house and feed thousands of evacuees, and provide medical and surgical care, in the event of a major disaster in the Columbus area.

Spurred largely by the federal-state matching fund offer, and prompt allocations from the city and county, the district's CD set-

Fatal Beating Brings Sentence

COLUMBUS (AP) — Raymond L. Grambo, 35, yesterday received a one-to-20-year sentence in Ohio Penitentiary for first degree manslaughter in the fatal beating last May of 74-year-old John B. Church.

Grambo's nephew, Walter Roberson, 18, and William R. Hudson, 25, convicted on the same charge, were referred to the probation department for pre-sentence investigation. All are from Columbus.

Living Cost Drops Slightly For Third Straight Month

WASHINGTON (AP)—The government reported today living costs declined slightly in April. The drop, the third in three months, was entirely due to lower excise taxes effective April 1.

The decline means a penny-an-hour pay cut for about 1,200,000 workers in the auto, aircraft and farm equipment industries whose pay rates are geared by union contracts to the government living cost index.

The Bureau of Labor Statistics reported its index declined two tenths of one per cent from mid-March to mid-April, lowering the index to 114.6 per cent of the 1947-49 average. This is seven-tenths of one per cent below the October 1953 peak when the index was 115.4. The April index, however, is eight-tenths of one per cent above a year ago.

Commissioner Ewan Clague of the Bureau said the April decline was entirely due to the April 1 excise tax cuts and the index would have remained unchanged without the cuts.

FOOD PRICES rose in April by three-tenths of one per cent, mainly due to higher prices for fresh fruits and vegetables, potatoes, lettuce, some meats and coffee.

This was countered by lower prices for clothing, seasonal reductions in coal prices, and lower costs of house furnishings, household operations and personal care.

Clague said about half of the excise tax cut was passed on to consumers. He noted the tax on movie admission was one of those not passed on to consumers.

Other excise tax reductions were carried only in part to the retail level.

Lima Ex-Gl Accused In Triple Murder

Mystery In Germany In 1946 Outlined By U.S. Deputy Attorney

FRANKFURT, Germany (AP)—Murder charges in the ax-and-fire slaying of three American officers in Germany eight years ago were filed here today against James M. Leech of Lima, Ohio, former U. S. Army captain.

U. S. Dep. Dist. Atty. William Canfield said he was forwarding extradition papers seeking Leech's return to stand trial. He said it may be a difficult case to press because of the time interval and the difficulty of finding all witnesses.

In Lima, Leech said today "This is the first I've heard of these charges, and I'm not running away from trouble."

A boilermaker at the Lima refinery of the Standard Oil Co., he said: "I thought the matter was closed. It's funny I haven't had anything official on this. I haven't heard a thing from that district attorney."

Leech, 44, was married in 1942 and has a son, Alan, 9.

Lima police, the Allen County sheriff and the FBI had received no notice of the charges early today. In Columbus, attaches of Gov. Frank J. Lausche's office said no extradition papers had been received there.

Victims of the slaying were Maj. Everett S. Cofran, formerly of Washington, D. C., Capt. Adrian L. Wessler, and 1st Lt. Stanley Rosewater, Omaha, Neb.

Their charred bodies were found in Cofran's house in Passau, Jan. 7, 1946.

The triple slaying was one of the most sensational in postwar Germany and lingered in police records as puzzling and unsolved.

Leech, Cofran's deputy as town commander of Passau, was an early suspect in the case but was released eight months later.

CANFIELD SAID the deaths of two of the men may have been a ghastly error on the part of the slayer. The two were overnight guests of Cofran.

This is how Canfield described what may have happened the night of the slaying: "The murderer entered the house, armed with an ax and crept into Cofran's room, then occupied by Rosewater. He struck the sleeping (Continued on Page Two)

Big Steel Eyes Union Demands

PITTSBURGH (AP) — U. S. Steel Corp. today began reviewing contract demands of the United Steelworkers outlined at a three-day conference at the opening of negotiations in the steel industry.

The session recessed yesterday. It is expected U. S. Steel, top steel producer in the nation, will take about two weeks to study the demands thoroughly and prepare its answer. No definite date has been set for resumption of talks.

Odd Railroad Crossing Deal Being Studied

COLUMBUS (AP)—Southern Ohio atomic plant construction has raised an unusual railroad crossing question in eastern Pike County.

During the eight months Ohio 124 is being worked on, traffic which normally uses that route will cross the Chesapeake & Ohio Railroad tracks over County Road 42 at Robbins.

The state highway department wants the railroad to put a watchman at the crossing for the month it would take to install flasher lights. The railroad said it gladly will supply a watchman, if the department will pay his salary. The department says it can't do that.

Rhee Wins Again In Korean Poll

SEOUL (AP)—President Syngman Rhee's Liberal Party today clinched control of the South Korean National Assembly by winning 109 of 203 seats in the one-house legislature.

Election officials said returns from all districts showed that independent candidates won in 74 districts, Democratic Nationalists in 15, Korean Nationalists in 3 and the Korean Society in 2.

U. S. Offers To Unload Farm Grain Surpluses At Sharply Cut Prices

Trouble Seen If Britain Shuns South Asia Alliance

WASHINGTON (AP) — The United States may run into difficulty in setting up a collective anti-Communist defense for Southeast Asia without Britain if in the showdown Britain refuses to go along.

A sign of possible complication came from New Zealand's Foreign Minister T. Clifton Webb yesterday after an hour-long conference with Secretary of State Dulles and New Zealand's ambassador here, Leslie Knox Munroe.

"I can't conceive of a satisfactory alliance being made that didn't include Britain," Webb said, adding: "We can't see Britain not wanting to be in. You are asking me to speculate on a situation which we don't believe will arise."

Nothing of great importance, certainly nothing of a formal nature, is likely to happen on the coalition project until after the Australian elections May 28.

Farm Reforms Pledged By Irish Chief

DUBLIN, Ireland (AP)—Associates of John A. Costello said today the coalition leader will give top priority to improvement and modernization of Irish agriculture when he takes over as premier.

Costello's control of the government was assured last night when final returns from Tuesday's general elections gave the group of parties headed by him a majority in the new Dail (parliament). Outgoing Premier Eamon de Valera conceded that his Fianna Fail (men of destiny) party had been defeated and the opposition could form a new government.

The Dail is scheduled to convene June 2 to launch the new regime.

While plans for formation of the government still were in an early stage, a friend of Costello said the Fine Gael (United Ireland) party chief believes the future of Ireland lies in developing her only major asset—12 million acres of land.

Through the years this most essential element of Ireland's economy has been neglected. The land now is being tilled only at 60 per cent capacity. American economic aid experts have urged the republic to do something about it.

Ireland's economic ills were largely responsible for the popular old leader's downfall.

The cost of food essentials has jumped since the government withdrew the bulk of its food subsidies in 1952. Taxes have been increased in the face of opposition protests that they were stifling the country's economy. Unemployment has mounted.

Ronald Jones Dies Following Traffic Mishap

Pickaway County's third traffic death in less than four weeks was recorded Thursday afternoon with the death of 16-year-old Ronald Ray (Kline) Jones, of Williamsport. The youth died about 15 hours after being removed to University Hospital in Columbus from Berger Hospital here.

The accident occurred Wednesday evening when Jones and another boy, 12-year-old Larry Eitel, of Circleville Route 3, were thrown from the back of a flat-bed truck about 10 miles northwest of here. Eitel is in Berger Hospital with minor injuries.

Driver of the truck was Bennie Jones, 47, of Circleville Route 2. Deputies Dwight Radcliff and Carl White discovered Jones had no operator's license, partly due to a misunderstanding on a previous conviction, according to Sheriff Charles Radcliff. Jones was brought before Municipal Judge Sterling Lamb Thursday and fined $10 and costs for that offense.

Cause of the accident, according to the deputies, was the fact that the brakes failed as Jones was approaching a dead end intersection of Derby-Darbyville Rd. and Route 316. Jones claimed he pumped his brakes at least 10 times but with no success.

Ohio's Turnpike Opening On Time

BRYAN (AP)—Ohio's $326 million 241-mile turnpike will open on schedule Oct. 1, 1955, Turnpike Commission Chairman James W. Shockness predicts.

Turnpike commissioners, state officials and others completed an inspection trip of the route yesterday. The chairman said: "By dint of the greatest effort of men and machines, the Ohio Turnpike from the Pennsylvania line to the Indiana line will be completed and open to traffic on the scheduled date."

Diplomats Try Determine If Armistice Is Possible

GENEVA (AP)—The Indochina conference returned to closed-door session today with the Western Powers determined to find out quickly whether there is any chance of an armistice.

It is generally conceded that the conference has reached a crucial stage with both the West and the Communists refusing to give ground on basic issues.

There were reports that British Foreign Secretary Anthony Eden would fly to London Sunday to report personally to Prime Minister Churchill. Eden conferred yesterday with both Russia's Foreign Minister V. M. Molotov and Red China's Premier Chou En-lai.

The primary purpose of Eden's talks was to break the procedural deadlock which developed Wednesday over Red demands that the "resistance governments" of Laos and Cambodia be invited here.

The West has opposed the demand. France labeled the purported governments "phantom regimes" which exist only on paper.

French sources said the Communist leaders had agreed to drop

Gov. Talmadge! Marlow Gives You Warning!

George's governor, Herman Talmadge, may be asking for a fight he can't finish when he takes on the United States Supreme Court on the segregation question.

And James Marlow, in his column, "The World Today", explains why. Marlow's column is one of the many top-rank features brought daily to The Herald's readers.

Marlow points out that Georgia apparently is willing to defy the high tribunal's decision, even if it's the only Southern state to do so. And Marlow explains how that can lead the Georgia governor into deep water he may not see ahead of him.

NAPOLÉON (AP)—Town Marshal Harry Harting of nearby McClure, critically wounded May 13, today was described by hospital officials as "much improved." He was shot in the chest and arm by Arthur Peters, 23, of Chicago.

Harting tried to arrest Peters on a highway near here. Peters has been charged with kidnapping a Chicago cab driver and a Holgate retainer, car theft, and shooting with intent to kill, all during flight from police.

Iron Curtain Countries OK'd For Purchases

American Corn Slated To Sell At 22 Cents Below Current Market

WASHINGTON (AP) — The U. S. Government today made a bid, open to nations behind the Iron Curtain as well as the free world, for broader export markets for its $6½ billion pile of farm surpluses.

Corn, barley, oats and rye from government stocks will be offered for the time being to private exporters at prices ranging from 10 to 15 cents a bushel below domestic market prices.

These discounts are designed to enable exporters to compete with grain being sold by other countries.

The Agriculture Department, in announcing this program, placed no limitations on countries to which the grain could be sold. This would include nations under communism.

The department previously had placed wheat, butter, cheese, dried milk, grain sorghums, cottonseed oil and flaxseed on a cut-rate basis for foreign buyers.

Oil Well Blows Smelly Trouble

CLEVELAND (AP) — Edward L. Kurzenberger wanted his own gas supply, and there was an old abandoned oil well in back of his home. So he had it tapped.

Yesterday a brown smelly mixture of oil and salt water shot 75 feet into the air, spraying the Kurzenberger home and another house under construction nearby.

The driller, L. A. McCrude of Valley City, said the crude oil was mixed with too much salt water to be of much commercial value.

Rosewater with the ax before discovering his error. Then he went to an adjoining bedroom and attacked Wessler, believing he was Cofran.

When he learned of his second mistake, he went upstairs to the attic, where Cofran slept on a spare bed. Cofran was then bludgeoned with the ax.

Then the slayer set fire to the house with several cans of gasoline and fled.

A fourth officer, not identified by Canfield, was asleep on the first floor but his door was locked and he was undisturbed until fire broke out.

Canfield had kept the files in the case open and continued with his own probe of the case.

He recalled what he said were the following facts in the investigation which prompted him to push the charges:

LEECH had been friendly with a German girl secretary who was discharged by Cofran. Cofran also canceled an order which would have provided business funds to her father "and financially ruined the old man."

An ax identified as one usually kept in the basement of Leech's home was found by German divers in the river at Passau shortly after the killings.

Leech was given lie detector tests after autopsies were performed "and they showed Leech was not telling the truth."

"Leech was kept as a suspect until September of 1946," the deputy prosecutor said. "Then, apparently it was felt not enough evidence existed to warrant charges. I feel we have an extremely strong circumstantial case."

"For example: Leech was called out when the fire was discovered. Instead of telephoning for the fire department, he went in his car, even though he did not know where the fire station was, and eventually went to a military police station. He was gone 30 minutes. He was seen by witnesses washing his woolen uniform with soap and water after the slayings. He told his girl friend he could not see her the night of the slayings because he had records to study. No records were taken from the files. He said he slept throughout the evening and had not left the house when, in fact, a tenant said she heard Leech moving around upstairs late that night."

"His uniform was analyzed for bloodstains and he told an investigator blood would probably be found on it because he had cut his hand. No blood was found. There was gasoline on his clothing, but he said he splashed himself pouring gas in his car that evening. At witness testified Leech fill his car the day before."

Rotary Speaker Says Mid-East Holds Much Anti-U.S. Sentiment

Despite the volume of material support that this nation has directed to the Middle East, a high degree of anti-American sentiment still thrives in that section of the globe.

Members of the Circleville Rotary Club heard that warning Thursday from Phillip Yapple of Chillicothe, formerly associated with Pan American Airlines. He was the main speaker at Rotary's luncheon meeting this week.

While working for Pan-American, Yapple was stationed in Turkey, Syria and Iran for more than five years. In his talk on all phases of that part of the world, he described temperatures that ranged up to 120 degrees by day and dropped to a "cool" 90 by night.

Yapple said the excessive temperatures appear to affect the whole tempo of living in the Middle East, being reflected in the lagging, apparently indifferent attitude of the natives toward modern progress.

WITH THIS same attitude apparent, the natives of the Middle East for the most part live in extreme poverty by our standards, Yapple said. Men and women in Damascus, for example, wear a hodgepodge of clothing, the speaker recalled.

Yapple said the same spirit prevails in regard to agricultural methods. Farming methods are primitive, and frequently are the same as those used hundreds of years ago.

Yet, in contrast with so much indifference toward other phases of life, political and religious beliefs are deep-seated, Yapple told the Rotarians. He said the people of the Middle East are deep in customs and traditions, extremely religious, and determined to weave their religion into their political thinking.

Yapple said, in Souda Arabia, the law is: "An eye for an eye, and a tooth for a tooth." It was not uncommon, he said, for violators of the law to be beheaded for their crimes.

And although major war has been checked in this region which has known so many wars through history, Yapple warned that deep anti-American feeling exists throughout the Middle-East. American aid, both in materials and money, has been unable to change this dangerous situation, Yapple said.

And the oil-rich Middle East could easily sway the weight of world power against the western powers if Soviet domination could be established, it was pointed out.

The FBI said the victim had arranged, with the assistance of her husband, to travel in Loel's car on an expense-sharing basis from Compton, Calif., to Newark, Ohio. Three days after they left California, her half-nude body, slashed with 19 stab-wounds, was found. Loel had disappeared. So far as police records show, Loel, a native

Adams, the Army counselor, has testified that at a Jan. 21 conference with Atty. Gen. Brownell and other administration figures, he was advised by Sherman Adams, chief White House aide, to prepare a written chronology of his relations with McCarthy and Cohn. Such an account later served as the basis of the Army charges.

McCarthy said it represents "a stacked deck" against his side.

Fool-Proof Retirement Program To Begin While You Are Young

By HAL BOYLE

NEW YORK (AP)—Do you have a simple, fool-proof retirement plan?

If not, I think I have one that may interest you. Wait! Don't run away. This won't cost you anything.

Here is what is wrong with most retirement plans:

1. A man retires and discovers his pension is really only peanut money. He then has the problem of convincing his wife that peanuts not only taste good but are even more nutritious than steak.

2. Or a man skimps all his life, figuring he will save enough money so that he can retire and do all the fine careless things he dreamed of doing when young. Then he makes the sad discovery that the dreams of youth lose their glamor and become nightmares in old age.

3. A man nearing 60 put his situation this way:

"Retirement looks wonderful to a man in his 30s or 40s, but as you actually get nearer to it you begin to see it as a pitfall.

"Take my case. They tell you to prepare for retirement by developing a hobby. Well, I've tried conscientiously to build an interest in gardening. But it simply isn't in me to be a wet nurse for a pansy bed. The only growing things I have a respect for are weeds and poison ivy.

"For years I have been putting away dough so that my wife and I could take a trip around the world when I retire. But lately I've been thinking what a nuisance it would be going through European museums gawking at pictures I don't like being explained to me by a guide who learned his English by reading old copies of the National Geographic.

"Work has always been the real hobby of sensible men. The closer I get to retirement the less my daily routine looks like a rut, and the more it looks like a friendly bomb shelter. I even hate to tear the page off my desk calendar anymore. It depresses me."

4. This man, it seems to me, has made the mistake of many men who plan for retirement by postponing small present pleasures in order to achieve some greater and more expensive luxury in the distant future.

My modified pay-as-you-go retirement program simply calls for a reversal of these tactics. Instead of squirreling away dough so you can see Africa from a wheel chair at 66, you take a

Nobody Wants Extra Armadillos

RIVERHEAD, N. Y. (AP)—Sidney Schwartz bought two armadillos from Comfort, Tex., in order to write a thesis on their birth habits for a New York University doctorate.

The armadillos, both females, gave birth to seven offspring, which makes nine armadillos.

Armadillos sleep during the daytime and like to whoop it up at night. And they eat like mad.

For the sake of quiet and economy, Schwartz tried to get rid of at least the mama armadillos. But nobody seems to want them, including zoos and animal dealers.

"I can't turn them loose, that would be cruel," Schwartz said yesterday. "There must be somebody who likes armadillos."

WASHINGTON (AP) — When it comes time to step into the ring with the United States Supreme Court, Herman Talmadge, dark-haired governor of Georgia, may find he's overmatched.

He's itching, he says, for a knock-down-drag-out fight with the court which on Monday outlawed segregation in public schools. He says Georgia will defy the decision if it's the only Southern state which does.

Georgia defied the court in President Andrew Jackson's time. Jackson winked and let Georgia get away with it. No president nowadays is likely to follow suit.

Defiance would put Talmadge in the position of defying the nation and even undermining it since there can be no democratic society unless its members abide by the lawful processes, including the court, which they created.

Talmadge's determination to fight the court may be in direct proportion to the willingness of other Southern states to go along with him when the showdown comes. That's still months away.

On Monday the court said only segregation must end. It invited the attorneys general from the states with segregation to argue here in October on terms of a decree which will fix a deadline.

What the government can do to make Georgia comply, if Talmadge balks, would depend on how he tried to frustrate the court order. What the government might do is neither clear nor predictable. A few steps, however, appear obvious.

Talmadge could say the ruling did not apply to Georgia because Georgia was not one of the states involved in the cases on which the court ruled, although its ruling does apply to all states.

If Talmadge took this stand, nothing would happen until some Negro parents in Georgia asked a federal court to make Talmadge end segregation.

Told by a federal court, as he would be, that the Supreme Court decision applied to Georgia, Talmadge could be jailed for contempt if he then disobeyed. He could be jailed indefinitely, or until he ordered segregation in Georgia ended. This would take months.

If, then, individual school superintendents in Georgia refused to follow the decision, they could be brought into federal court on contempt charges. More time. Or

Discipline Lack Worries Educator

THEEDFORD, Neb. (AP)—Educator Dale D. Welch told the Nebraska Sandhills Cattle Assn. meeting he viewed "with alarm" what he termed the lack of discipline in modern education.

"We spend so much time trying to understand the rising generation, when above all they need firm discipline," Dr. Welch, president of Hastings (Neb.) College, said.

"Genuine teaching takes place when you have great teaching in an atmosphere conducive to learning," he said. "I find myself unable to believe that the best atmosphere is one in which the students vote each day on what they shall do on that particular day."

Query About Fire Brings Surprise

LYNCHBURG, Va. (AP) — Tony Stein, a reporter-photographer for the Lynchburg Daily Advance, called fire division headquarters here yesterday to get some information on a fire from which he had just returned.

The information he got, however, was about another fire—firemen told him his car was burning. Stein raced downstairs to find it was all too true. A passer-by had noticed the flames a few minutes after Stein had returned to the office and had called firemen. The car was damaged severely.

Georgia's disobedience might take some other turn.

In President Jackson's day the federal government, because of treaties with the Cherokee Indians, claimed exclusive jurisdiction over territory they occupied. Then Georgia claimed it.

When a Cherokee Indian named Corn Tassel killed another Indian, inside Cherokee territory, a Georgia state court, claiming jurisdiction, tried him and sentenced him to be hanged.

On an appeal, the Supreme Court ordered the execution stopped and told Georgia to explain why it had infringed on Cherokee territory. The Georgia State Legislature ordered local officers to ignore the Supreme Court.

Corn Tassel was hanged. Then Georgia ordered two New England missionaries, living in the Indian territory, to swear allegiance to Georgia. The missionaries refused on the grounds they were in Cherokee territory, not in Georgia.

They were tried in a Georgia court and jailed. The Supreme Court ruled the federal government had jurisdiction and ordered the missionaries released. Georgia refused.

Jackson is reported to have stood back and said, "John Marshall (the chief justice) has made his decision; now let him enforce it."

Building Planned

COLUMBUS (AP)—State Highway Director S. O. Linzell yesterday announced plans for a $300,000 office building at Bowling Green to house the department's administrative and engineering staff.

He Didn't Want To Extend Luck

NAPLES, Italy (AP)—Walking to work with three companions, Giacomo Pennarolo found a 100-lire note (15 cents) on the street.

"We will buy a lottery ticket with it," said Giacomo. His friends agreed. They decided on a number and left it up to Pennarolo to buy the ticket. Came the day of the lottery drawing. The number the four picked won 450,000 lire (more than $700)—a fortune for a Neopolitan workman.

The court heard the sad ending after Pennarolo's three companions charged him with pocketing the prize.

Pennarolo dolefully told the court he had decided not to push his luck any further. He never bought the winning lottery ticket.

"The fates have punished you enough," the judge said. "Case dismissed."

Economic Expert Sees No Depression

NEW YORK (AP)—Leon H. Keyserling, who served as top economic advisor to former President Truman, sees no depression in America but urges the present administration to take steps to curb unemployment.

Addressing a meeting for businessmen yesterday sponsored by Americans for Democratic Action (ADA), Keyserling said:

"I have not thought from the beginning that we were going to have a depression, and I don't think so now. I disagree with those who have so blithely shouted the cry of pending depression. This is irresponsible in these times."

Keyserling added that unless the

Eisenhower administration quickly adopts a "vigorous policy of reactivating the economy," the nation will have a "true level of unemployment of 7½ million by the first quarter of next year."

Micaiah Withstands False Prophets

THE MAN OF GOD SPEAKS BOLDLY AGAINST WAR

Scripture—I Kings 22:1-40.

By NEWMAN CAMPBELL.
IF IN A GROUP of people one man voted against a proposition of which 400 approved, we might be tempted to think that the one dissenting voice was that of a crank or chronic fault finder. We might be right in thinking so, and then again events might prove that he was right and the 400 wrong. It is easy to vote with the majority, without thinking seriously of the consequences of the action to be taken.

In our lesson one man did stand bravely forth and opposed the wishes of his king and the acceptance of such wish by 400 thoughtless and subservient men whose only aspiration was to please this powerful king, regardless of circumstances.

The events of the lesson took place over 100 years after the division of the kingdom. Ahab reigned over Israel and Jehoshaphat over Judah. Jehoshaphat went to pay a visit to Ahab. Now there had been peace between the kingdoms of Syria and Israel for three years, but the Syrians were threatening Israel, and had indeed taken the city Ramoth-Gilead (thought now to have been the present Mizzpah). Ahab asked Jehoshaphat to join with him in a war against Syria to try to recapture the town.

Jehoshaphat replied: "I am as thou art, my people as thy people, the hand of the king." Ahab was clever enough to realize that Micaiah was not speaking the truth, and said to him: "How many times shall I adjure thee that thou tell me nothing but that which is true in the name of the Lord?"

Then Micaiah spoke as the Lord had told him: "I saw all Israel scattered upon the hills, as sheep that have not a shepherd, and the Lord said, These have no master; let them return every man to his house in peace." Ahab turned to Jehoshaphat, saying, "Did I not tell thee that he would prophesy no good concerning me, but evil?"

Then Micaiah told the kings that he had had a vision of God and that the Lord had asked who should persuade Ahab to go to war with Syria to his destruction, and a spirit stood forth and said he would, and it was this spirit who had put false words into the mouths of these false prophets.

For these words Ahab had Micaiah put into prison "until I come in peace." But Micaiah replied, "If thou return at all in peace, the Lord hath not spoken by me."

Ahab, however, was really frightened by Micaiah's words, so much so that he went into battle disguised, leaving Jehoshaphat to wear the kingly robes. Ahab was hoping, no doubt that the Syrians my horses as thy horses." However, Jehoshaphat, a devout man, wanted God's approval of the war.

Ahab, however, called about 400 so-called prophets together, asked them about the matter, and they said, with one voice, "Go up; for the Lord shall deliver it into the hand of the king."

Jehoshaphat was not satisfied. He seems to have suspected that these 400 men were not true prophets of Jehovah, but mere hangers-on at the court who wanted to give Ahab anything the king desired. So Jehoshaphat said: "Is there not here a prophet of the Lord besides, that we might enquire of him?"

Ahab admitted that there was such a man and his name was Micaiah, but he hated him for he never prophesied any good for the king. However, he sent for Micaiah, and the two kings sat each on his throne, and we imagine the 400 false prophets stood about to see what Micaiah had to say, and the prophet came before them. Micaiah had told the messenger sent for him, "As the Lord liveth, what the Lord saith to me that will I speak."

Ahab asked, "Micaiah, shall we go against Ramoth-Gilead to battle, or shall we forbear?" Micaiah said, "Go, and prosper; for the Lord shall deliver it into would think Jehoshaphat was king of Israel and that he would escape unrecognized.

However, the Syrian king told his men to fight only with the king of Israel.

The soldiers pursued Jehoshaphat at first, thinking he was King Ahab, but when they were told he was not the king of Israel they ceased to follow him.

A certain man (name unknown) drew a bow at a venture, and smote Ahab the king between the joints of his harness, and the king told his chariot driver to carry him out of the host for he was wounded.

They propped the king up in his chariot that he might look as if he were alive. The battle increased and Ahab died in the evening and his blood covered the chariot. A proclamation was heard throughout the multitude when the sun went down, saying, "Every man to his city, and every man to his country."

So King Ahab died and was buried in Samaria, and one washed his chariot at a pool and horrible to relate, the wild dogs licked up his blood. So died ignominiously the wicked king of Israel who was unfaithful to God, to his neighbor and to his people, who would not listen to the words of the prophet of God.

Commercial Point Methodist Church Hails Anniversary

The Commercial Point Methodist Church will celebrate the 100th anniversary of the organization of the Sunday school on Sunday, May 23, at the 10:30 a. m. service.

The Sunday school was organized May 21, 1854 and was then known as the Genoa Church. Samuel Gamble was elected the first Sunday school superintendent, and J. W. Durrett was the secretary. In 1854 a small brick church was built in Commercial Point and in 1873 that building was blown down in a storm. The present building was erected the following year at a cost of $2400.

During the past two years, the interior of the church has been completely remodeled. The walls have been repainted and decorated, new hardwood floor, new pews, and many other improvements have been made.

At the present time there are 167 members. The Rev. Robert B. St. Clair is the present pastor and is finishing his second year at the Commercial Point Church. The Sunday school superintendent is T. F. Hatfield.

Friends of the church are invited to worship with the congregation in this special service.

Churches Total Overseas Relief

NEW YORK (AP) — Protestant, Jewish and Catholic relief services have shipped $52,226,015 worth of government surplus foods to needy areas overseas in the past year.

In a joint announcement yesterday, the services said the shipments included 155 million pounds of butter, cheese and powdered milk.

The surplus was released by the government on condition the relief agencies take over distribution. The religious groups also took care of the handling costs.

Methodists Study Refugee Problem

COLUMBUS (AP) — Technicalities of bringing refugees to this country under American sponsorship were discussed here yesterday by Methodist Church leaders of New York and Ohio.

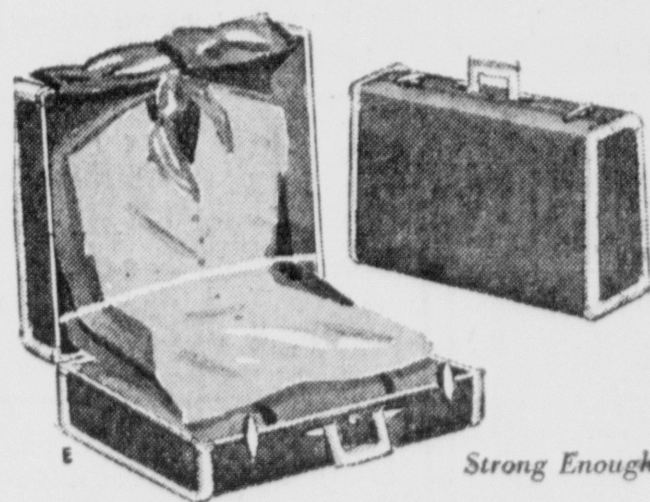

The Methodist Church has pledged to help find 5,000 refugees homes and jobs. A total of 214,000 will be admitted under the Refugee Relief Act of 1953. Other church groups have volunteered to sponsor the remaining refugees.

Missionary Day Set

Missionary Day will be observed at the St. Paul AME Church next Sunday at 3:30 p. m. Talent from the district will participate in the program.

New Chevrolet Trucks...

do more work per day . . . more work per dollar!

You save time in traffic. New truck Hydra-Matic transmission gets you off to smooth, time-saving starts without shifting or clutching. Imagine how easy this makes driving in traffic and on delivery routes! It's optional at extra cost on 1/2-, 3/4- and 1-ton models.

You save time on the highway. New high-compression power gets you up to highway speeds from a standing start in less time, and saves you time on hills, too. You make trips faster—and the new Comfortmaster cab makes them seem shorter. It's got everything!

You save extra trips, too. That's because of the extra load space you get in the new Advance-Design bodies. New pickup bodies are deeper . . . new stake and platform bodies are wider and longer. Also, they're set lower to the ground for easier loading.

You save on operating costs. High-compression power saves you money! The "Thrifmaster 235" engine, the "Loadmaster 235," and the "Jobmaster 261" (optional on 2-ton models at extra cost), deliver greater horsepower plus increased operating economy.

You save with lower upkeep. New Chevrolet trucks are built stronger to last longer and save you money on maintenance. There are heavier axle shafts in two-ton models . . . bigger clutches in light- and heavy-duty models . . . stronger frames in all models.

And your savings start the day you buy. In fact, they start with the low price you pay—and they never stop. Chevrolet, you know, is America's lowest-priced line of trucks. And it's also the truck that has a traditionally high trade-in value.

Come in and see how much you're ahead with America's number one truck. You'll like the way we're talking business!

TOO BIG

PROPOSALS TO form states from large metropolitan areas of this country must have strong appeal for state officials who are constantly besieged by pressure groups and politicians to come to the aid of the big towns.

At the moment New York City is struggling with a proposed budget of $1.6 billion which is an increase of $100 million over the previous year. School teachers and city employees say this budget is too parsimonious. Teachers have been offered a raise of $450 and other employees boosts of from $150 to $250. All belong to unions, and their spokesmen declare they will strike unless they are given increases of from $500 to $1,000.

To get more money the city proposes to put a three per cent levy on earnings of agents, brokers and other businesses in which no tangible commodity is sold. This would bring in an estimated $30 million a year. Officials of the New York Stock Exchange and other institutions which would be subject to this new tax have been conferring with New Jersey officials on the possibility of moving to that state.

There is much evidence that when a city moves into the multi-million population class it becomes too unwieldy for efficient management. A city-state such as New York City might become so rotted by corruption that it would fall of its own weight. At present the state authorities have some control over the boddlers. But give them absolute power and they might be tempted to steal everything, leaving nothing for financing public services.

BACK TO THE FARM

TENDENCY OF YOUNG people to leave the farms and migrate to the cities has long caused concern to students of the national economy. Ever since World War I this digression has been increasing, in spite of the best efforts of 4-H Club leaders and activities of Future Farmers of America.

Has this trend now been halted? R. L. Throckmorton, former dean of agriculture at Kansas State College, sponsored an advertisement in several national publications last December, which asked the question: "Should your child be a farmer?"

The response has been tremendous. Hundreds of letters from all sections of the country have been received. These came from parents, high school students, teachers, agricultural leaders and rural educators, asking reprints of the advertisement, and showing a great interest in keeping youth on the farm.

Throckmorton points to figures which show that the percentage of the population engaged in farming has declined to 15 per cent of the total. A farming career, Throckmorton declares, provides "a life that calls upon man for intelligence, sweat and compassion, and rewards him with security, satisfaction and spiritual peace."

That description sounds almost utopian.

George E. Sokolsky's

These Days

Herbert Brownell, Jr., Attorney General of the United States, speaks the same language as the Chairmen of the three Congressional committees that are charged with investigating Communists and other subversives:

"We know that one of the major objectives of the Communist Party has been to infiltrate our Government. We have no intention of letting this happen."

That is precisely what Senator Joe McCarthy has been saying. Why then is there so much conflict among the Republicans? Why is it impossible for them to cooperate on a common objective? The answer seems to be that the generation of Republicans who have come into office since 1932 have little understanding of the compromises, the give-and-take characteristic of free institutions. The peculiarities of the American Government with three balanced branches can be foreign to those who have built their careers in other political media than the Federal Government.

Brownell said in his speech of April 9: "The history of how the Communist underground infiltrated our National Government, with the disastrous loss of atomic information and other defense data, is now familiar to all Americans. Earlier attempts to prevent this failed, partly because they were based on the belief that our Government could stop the loss of Government secrets to foreign agents merely (be?) removing those Government employees who were found to be disloyal to the United States."

This again is precisely what Senators McCarthy, McCarran, Jenner and other anti-Communists have been saying for many years. Coming from the Attorney General of the United States, it is a confirmation of their position, namely, that the Government has been infiltrated, that there has been espionage, that there was and is a pattern of association that requires study and investigation. Brownell goes further:

"... But we found by studying Communist infiltration into free governments that the Communists do not rely solely on persons who are disloyal and those who are avowed members of the Communist Party to steal government secrets. In addition to espionage agents they cleverly use first, people who are indoctrinated with Communist ideology in some 'front' organization and who do not realize the full meaning of the Communist international conspiracy."

Having said this, the assumption would be that men belonging to the same party and holding identical views and aiming at the same goals would join forces to achieve a common purpose. This has not happened because of a theory of government, alien to the American spirit, which accepts two hypotheses:

1. That the Executive branch of the government must be permitted to police itself without interference by Congress;
2. That the Executive branch of government not only operates an administration but also asserts a leadership over all persons of its political party who should accept that leadership as part of teamwork. This doctrine has never before, been asserted, not even by Franklin D. Roosevelt, who was undoubtedly the most effective political leader in the Presidency.

Such a doctrine cannot hold in the United States because the country is not organized that way. Senators have an obligation to their constituencies which are state-wide; Representatives are agents of the prevailing opinion in their districts. If Senator Jackson, for instance, represented Tennessee

Joan Foster, Bride

SYNOPSIS

After a long and arduous courtship, Joan Foster and Todd Hunter had set a date for their wedding. It will not be easy to live gracefully on Todd's meager school-teacher salary, nor to share the manse in New Jersey, with his frail father, the minister, and his gentle, somewhat possessive mother. But this simple beginning will mean living their lives together, and that is what they want most of all. Joan and her mother discuss a plan to have a reception at a formal church wedding, with Todd's father officiating. The widowed Mrs. Foster and Todd's parents, too, are well pleased with this impending alliance. And now with the wedding but a few days off, guests from out-of-town arrive, and many a party follows. The manse, too, extends its hospitality. Dr. and Mrs. Hunter bring a gay turkey dinner in honor of the bride-to-be.

CHAPTER TWELVE

IT WAS TEN minutes of four and Betty and Joan were alone in the house. Mrs. Foster and Gram had just been taken in Michael's car down the drive and across the street to the church; her mother looking lovely in a long purple gown with pale pink accessories. Gram sweet in a new gray dress.

"Okay, Jo-Jo?" Betty asked. Joan gave herself a quick survey in the large gilt mirror that hung at the foot of the stairs in the hall. She looked the way she had dreamed of looking, she told herself—and what more could she say than that?

"Okay, Betts," she answered quietly. The two girls moved toward the porch together. Joan would never have guessed she would be so composed at this moment, but she felt perfectly calm and peaceful. She nodded to the policeman who was hovering outside the screen door, ready to go into the house when they left it. He was to stay on guard there while everyone was absent. "Don't let anything happen to my presents, Joe," she said, smiling at him.

"Sure won't, Miss Foster." His admiring glance turned quizzical. "Gosh, seen' you now and rememberin' back—You know how many years I've known you?"

"How many?" He held his hand to the height of his knee. "That many," he said. "Since you was that big."

"It's a long time," she agreed. "But it has gone awfully fast, it seems to me."

"Me, too. Well, good luck." She nodded her thanks. A moment later Michael's car dashed up, swirled to the turn-around in the rear and came back alongside the steps where the two girls were waiting. Jack's roommate, Ned Bevin, was at the wheel, because Michael was Todd's best man, so he was with the groom in the anteroom of the church right now, while Jack was ushering with Tom and Donald.

And then she was inside the car, with Betty next to her, and they were rolling down the hill. She could hear the organ playing Where E'er You Walk, and she could see a latecomer hastily scurrying through the wide open doors in fear that they might be closed against her. She could see Jack, too, outside on the steps in his "ice cream" suit, waiting to help her from the car. He was to take her father's place today. It would be on his arm that she would go down the aisle and it would be he who would stand beside her to give her away. The responsibility made his young face look grave, she thought. Then his slightly crooked smile, flashing upon her as he opened the car door, restored him to familiarity.

"Hi, Bride," he said, in a low tone. "Jittery?"

She shook her head. "Everything's jake here, too."

And now, there in the roomy entry, everybody stood waiting for her. How lovely the bridesmaids looked. Mrs. Foster's critical eye went quickly over each of them. She tucked back a stray lock of Pamela's black hair. She touched Diane's cheek lightly where a fleck of powder lay. She snapped off the head of a flower that had broken in Betty's bunch when she had stepped from the car. Then she came up to her daughter.

"Darling—" she murmured. Suddenly Joan was swept by a surge of unexpected emotion. "Oh, Mother! Everything's s-so p-perfect! I'm so h-happy I could just cry!"

"Joan?" There was helpless dismay in Mrs. Foster's voice and on her face, but Don Barton came quickly to the rescue. "Okay, cry," he said sternly. "But see that all your tears go in here."

And he whipped out his handkerchief and held it under Joan's chin.

This made her laugh and the wave of feeling left her as suddenly as it had come. "What an idiot! I'm all right now," she said. And her quick smile proved it.

Her mother sighed in relief. Then she turned to Betty. "Betty, will you fix Joan's train now? I'll hold your flowers for you."

While Betty stooped behind her, Joan stood quietly, looking down at her dress. It was of the softest marquisette, as sheer and shimmering as she had wanted it, with long sleeves and an illusion neckline and perfectly darling tiny pastel butterflies flying up one side of her skirt. It had been those little butterflies as much as anything else that had made her choose this model.

Copyright, 1952, by Alice Ross Colver. Distributed by King Features Syndicate.

"All right?" Joan asked, as Betty straightened up.

"All right." Mrs. Foster gave Betty back her flowers. Then she lifted her hand to the pointed tiara of pearls on Joan's bright head and carefully drew the filmy veil attached to it down over her face.

"Oh, I'm sorry!" Betty exclaimed contritely. "I should have done that."

"It's done." Mrs. Foster nodded to all of them. "Are you in your places? The right distance apart? Then, Jack, we'll go. And don't forget," she added, "that you are to step out of our pew after the ceremony—after Joan and Todd have started back—and walk up the aisle with Diane."

The solemn notes of the Lohengrin wedding march sounded forth. Todd and Don stepped out, followed at measured pace by the girls.

Joan was halfway to the pulpit when suddenly the church faded away around her, the people faded away, the dark wood of the pews faded and the pale walls—and she saw only Todd. There he was, in his Palm Beach suit, tall and broad and solid, and—as usual—looking so immaculate and shining. As if to emphasize this, the sun slanted down through a window at that moment and turned his blond hair to a gleaming gold. Then she met his eyes and into their serious gray depths sprang a deep warm light.

"Joan, I'm waiting!" "Todd, I'm coming!"

That was what their looks said to each other. Yes, she was coming. Coming in confidence and serenity, coming in joyousness and hope. For they two together would make a broad bright river of their days.

It was hours later. Joan was in her room, changing into her traveling suit. It was a lightweight gold tweed with tiny flecks of dark blue through it. With it she was wearing a dark blue blouse and on her shoulder she had pinned the Talisman rosebuds that Todd had given her for her "going-away" corsage. Her accessories were navy, little flat-heeled pumps, a box-shaped handbag and a wisp of a veil that tied with a narrow navy ribbon over her bronze-bright hair and did for a hat.

Betty had been helping her. Out on the lawn, Mrs. Foster was with all the guests who were standing around, their hands full of confetti, waiting for the bride to appear. Over at the manse, Todd was changing his clothes, too.

"Do you want to hang your dress up or fold it back in the box, Jo?" "Hm? What? Oh, I don't know!"

NATIONAL WHIRLIGIG

news behind the news

WASHINGTON — Growing unemployment and possible loss of bargaining power in new contract negotiations lie behind the tight alliance which the labor rulers of the steel, coal and trucking industries have organized in defiance of the old and major unions—the American Federation of Labor and the Congress of Industrial Organizations.

Although the three leaders condemned the Eisenhower Administration for not inaugurating an emergency reconstruction program, their difficulties are economic rather than political. Their members are being laid off by the thousands and the flow of dues into union treasuries is slowing down.

These conditions have reduced their organizations to their weakest state since the mid-thirties, when F. D. R. sponsored legislation that gave them a dominant position in politics and the nation's economy.

UNEMPLOYED — According to their own records, there are almost one-half million unemployed in their three unions, which have a total membership of about three million.

More than 100,000 of John L. Lewis' coal miners are jobless, and 300,000 are working only parttime. David J. McDonald's CIO steel workers report 190,000 out of work and 250,000 working only parttime. Dave Beck's AFL truckers cannot find employment for about 150,000. Both the state and union benefit payments will soon be unable to feed and finance them.

The coal operators are so concerned over the industry's decline that they are holding an emergency meeting in Chicago today. They will probably resort to the unusual step of asking Government action to check rival competition from oil and gas interests, especially imports. So far the State Department has refused to accede to this plea.

REPUDIATION—Indeed, some mine owners suggest that the only remedy is to repudiate their contracts with Lewis, which call for wage of $19.60 a day. It is doubtful if the larger firms, which fix the pay-scale pattern, will adopt such a drastic course, for it would revive the anarchy and wars that existed 20 and 30 years ago.

But several companies have served notice of contract termination. In order to maintain employment, some union leaders have agreed to accept less pay than stipulated in their agreements. Lewis' premonitory fears over these developments account for labor's lone wolf's willingness to ally himself with McDonald and Beck, despite his hostility toward Walter P. Reuther, CIO president, and George L. Meany, head of the AFL.

If layoffs continue as a result of sagging production, the pact involving such major industries as coal, steel and transportation will strengthen them in negotiations for new arrangements.

UNION AIMS — McDonald's contract with "Big Steel" expires on June 30. His policy committee has served notice that it wants more money, a guaranteed annual wage and more liberal pensions.

By Ray Tucker

As an enemy of Reuther, who won an automatic productivity increase from Defense Secretary Charles E. Wilson when he headed General Motors, McDonald would like to be the first union chieftain to obtain an annual wage guarantee.

So far, there has been no angry talk or bickering. Neither the owners nor the unions, with their industries ailing, are in a mood for labor wars or strikes. Administration experts in this field are hopeful that both sides will settle for a package increase of about ten cents, mostly in non-inflationary "fringe benefits."

With so many influential industrialists in the Cabinet, the White House anticipates that they will be able to preserve peace on the labor front. It will be to their political and economic interest to do so, for industrial strife would aggravate Administration problems on the eve of a congressional election.

Buyer's Mart Seen In Air Conditioning

Pre-Season Price Cuts Noted As Inventories Continue To Build Up

By SAM DAWSON

SYRACUSE, N. Y. (AP)—A buyer's market is building up in a still strikingly booming business—keeping people cool.

There are the usual hall-marks: Pre-season price-cutting here and there, and a tendency for inventories of room air conditioners to pile up.

But the cause of this buyer's market is unusual: Too many potential customers.

The long-range prospects are so good for the air conditioning industry, its spokesmen here say, as to show signs of being over-tempting to manufacturers.

Mushrooming sales in the last two years of the industry's wonder child, the window cooler, and predictions that the lick-the-weather market will grow even more with the years has lured many more manufacturers into the field this spring. There are three times as many now as two years ago.

They have the capacity, if they all try, to turn out more room air conditioners than even this booming market seems likely to absorb this summer, industry spokesmen admit.

And in large hunks of the country the weatherman has been no help. A cool, wet spring has piled up stocks in many dealers' warehouses. Some are asking manufacturers to hold up shipments.

A few makers of room coolers are holding up production until hot weather puts a fire cracker under demand and blows holes in dealer inventories. They expect to make up the lost time with more sales later in the year.

Old-timers in the field, like Carrier Corp. here, look for room cooler sales competition to be fierce this summer.

"You'll see the pressure at the dealer level," Cloud Wampler, Carrier president, believes. "Distribution is going to be the big thing from now on. Industry-wide, the distribution system is pretty spotty. Some companies haven't good enough dealer organizations to do the right job on sales, repairs and services.

"These services, in the long run, will settle the competitive battle among the manufacturers."

He says that for months now Carrier has tailored output of window coolers to what it knows its dealer organization can sell and see, he would be a very different man than he is, just as Senator Mundt, coming from the agricultural state of South Dakota, is a very different person than he would have been if he came, let us say, from the largely industrialized state of Michigan. The pressures would be different. The organized life of the communities would be different.

For instance, Senator McCarthy hits out at Secretary Benson's agricultural program by demanding 100 percent parity, which pleases some farmers, particularly some dairymen and cheese producers in his dairy state.

No matter what a Senator does in Washington, his fundamental responsibility is to his state and to those elements in his state which can influence his election or his defeat. Most men are elected to Congress on local programs and attitudes.

When an administration assumes that men in Congress must invite defeat to satisfy a so-called "Leadership," it is asking more than is customary in this country and it will not get it.

Franklin D. Roosevelt would have handled it differently—but then he would know each Senator and most Representatives of his own party intimately. He would know how to reach them on a personal basis.

Joe Louis Gets Traffic Notice

NEW YORK (AP)—Former heavyweight champion Joe Louis has been informed he will be arrested if he does not appear here by May 28 to answer six traffic tickets.

Chief Magistrate John M. Murtagh signed a warrant of arrest yesterday for use against the former fight king if he doesn't show up by then.

Louis' address was given as 2100 McDougal St., Detroit.

service, so for his company there's no output slowdown at present.

He is prone to minimize room cooler business for the long term, anyway. He looks for the industry's big future gains to be in year-around cooling-heating units for the entire house, and in factory and commercial building air conditioning.

Just now, however, the window cooler is still the glamor item on the sales charts. Around 900,000 were installed last year. The industry is shooting at selling 1,200,000 this summer—when it warms up.

Fighting for this market will be almost 50 companies making nearly 100 different brands.

Customers are getting breaks. List prices have come down to the level of more pocketbooks. Competing companies are streamlining the gadgets, making them fit windows better and less conspicuously, offering a variety of colors to match room decors, and cutting down the noise of the motor.

It should be a good summer for people wanting to keep cool. But also it may be a rough summer in what some call an over-crowded industry.

Fausnaugh Elected To Receive Title Of State Farmer

Robert Lee Fausnaugh of Jackson Township School has been elected to receive the State Farmer degree from the Ohio Association of the Future Farmers of America.

The announcement was made by Hillis Hall, instructor of vocational agriculture and adviser to the local chapter.

The State Farmer honor is highly coveted by FFA members since only two per cent of the state organization's membership may receive it each year. Members are chosen for the distinction on the basis of their farming program, leadership abilities, scholastic achievements, thriftiness, cooperative activities and community service.

Young Fausnaugh has been serving as Master Counselor of the Circleville Chapter of DeMolay. His election to receive the State Farmer degree comes as one of the most recent recognitions for members of the Fox Chapter of FFA.

D. S. JOHNSON represented the county at Boys State last year, and won the county and district leadership contests sponsored by the Elks Lodge.

Newell Stevenson took second place in the county soil conservation essay contest, and Byron Carter is to represent the county at Boys State this Summer. In addition, he will be a member of the State FFA Band for the second time this Spring and Summer.

Fausnaugh is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Glenn Fausnaugh of Circleville Route 3, and is their second son to receive the State Farmer honor. James Allen Fausnaugh received the honor at ceremonies in 1952.

Initiation ceremonies will be completed at a banquet to be held the evening of June 4 at the new Ohio Union in honor of the successful candidates.

Ashes Of Man Still Unclaimed

LOS ANGELES (AP)—Robert Shapiro is wondering what to do with an urn containing the ashes of a man who died 10 years ago.

The urn turned up in 200 boxes and trunks Shapiro bought at a storage company auction of unclaimed goods. Police and the coroner's office told Shapiro they were not concerned.

Shapiro said maybe he'll put the urn in a warehouse, forget it and let it be auctioned in, say, another 10 years.

Initial Two-Night Doubleheader Results In Twin Defeat For CHS

Circleville High School's first attempt at a two-night doubleheader Thursday ended in a mixture of success and disaster. Although both the Tigers and West Jefferson enjoyed the idea, in which a picnic lunch was served between games, coach Dick Boyd's nine went down to a double defeat, 16 to 4 in the opener and 5 to 4 in the night cap. Don Skinner started for CHS in the first game and shut West Jefferson out for three innings. However, the winners scored four runs in the fourth on a number of errors. Then the dam broke loose and West Jefferson tallied four more times in the fifth, three in the sixth and boomed home five more runs in the seventh. Jim McConnell hurled the second game and might have had a shut-out except for six miscues the Tigers made which gave West Jefferson all their five runs. The winners scored one in the third only to have CHS tie it up in the bottom of the same inning. Circleville went ahead with one in the fourth. But the winners put three runs across the plate in the fifth and added their final tally in the sixth. The Tigers got one in the fifth and their last one in the seventh.

EVIDENTLY, it was the chilly weather which forced both teams to make six errors each in both games. Hitting stars for CHS were: Skinner, three hits including a triple in the first game, and Dick Banks, a freshman, a double in the opener and a three bagger in the second tilt. CHS travels to Wilmington Monday to play a postponed game and then to Washington C. H. Tuesday. Results were:

West Jeff	000	443	5	—	16	19	6
Circleville	030	000	1	—	4	5	6
McGuire and McClaskie; Skinner, Hill (5th) and Jones

Indians Say They Hitting Stride Now

CLEVELAND (AP) — Cleveland's Indians, who play Baltimore tonight in the opener of an 11-game campaign against western American League teams, apparently have found a way finally to mesh batting, pitching and luck.

The Tribe, only one game ahead of the second place New York Yankees despite seven straight victories, has been noted for its pitching for years.

But until now it always had trouble with its luck, in coming from behind, and in getting more than one batter hot at a time.

But for some unexplained reason all that stopped during the last road trip when the Indians won 10 of 15 games.

The Tribe, which left an average of nine men on base last year, suddenly started bunching hits in "big innings."

Bobby Avila took over the league lead in batting averages, closely followed by Al Rosen, who leads in home runs and runs batted in. In 11 of their last 20 wins, the Indians came from behind—five times in the eighth or ninth innings.

During their last home stand against eastern teams, the Tribe lost two of three games to the Yanks, one by one run and the other by two. But since then they have won those seven in a row.

They took over first place Sunday and this is the longest they have been in the lead in years.

Vince Lombardi, line coach of the New York football Giants, was on the Dean's honor list for four years at Fordham and was graduated cum laude.

Fair Grounds Stock Car Race Jinxed By Old Fashioned Rule

A rule, dating back to the days when Henry Ford was a racing driver, prolonged Thursday night's stock car races at the Fair Grounds until almost midnight. The rule states that all cars must complete the entire first lap, and not just the first turn, without mishap before the race can be recalled.

As a result of a long series of spills and spinouts on the initial lap, some 14 restarts had to be made. It took five restarts just to get the first race under way.

These circumstances overshadowed the presentation of the Senator's Cup by W. Wesley Llewellyn, candidate for state senator from the 10th District. This was won by Jim Washburn in the first race of the evening.

Jack Bowsher won two trophies for his efforts during the night. He earned the Forest Sports Cup for winning the feature race and also a trophy for recording the fastest time in the trials.

Can Cardinals Keep Up Their Heavy Hits?

Eddie Stanky Trying To Solve Pitching Problem Of Leaders

By The Associated Press

Can the St. Louis Cardinals keep up their tremendous hitting long enough for Eddie Stanky to find out if he finally has solved his pitching problems?

If they can, the skin-tight National League pennant race may soon start coming apart at the seams.

The Cardinals arrived home from the East today, a game and a half in front of the nearest of the closely bunched contenders. On the road they won 9 of 14 games, including a 17-4 runaway at Pittsburgh last night.

Of even more importance to the Cards was the blossoming of Tom Poholsky as a starting pitcher. The big right-hander was used twice on the trip. He lost a 1-0 heartbreaker in Brooklyn, where he allowed only three hits. And he went the distance again last night against the last-place Pirates.

St. Louis pitching, the club's biggest question mark from the very start of spring training, has left a lot to be desired. Manager Stanky has been using Harvey Haddix, Gerry Staley and Vic Raschi. Then he closes his eyes, pulls a name out of the hat and hopes.

At one time or another everybody except Raschi, the $75,000 acquisition from the New York Yankees, has been blasted. Seven times the Cardinals' rivals have scored 10 or more runs.

No wonder Poholsky, fresh from two years in the Army, looks good. While the pitching has been shaky, the hitting has been amazing. The team batting average is .295 and five of the regulars are over .300, topped by Ray Jablonski at .374 and Stan Musial at .367, top men in the league.

Even Poholsky got into the hitting act last night. He singled three times in three official times at bat, sacrificed once and drove in four runs. Musial drove in four with his 13th home run and a triple.

The Cardinals scored six runs in the first inning, one in the fourth, seven in the seventh and three in the eighth for their highest total of the season.

Even though they lead the league by a game and a half, the Cardinals are all even in the "games lost" column with the seventh-place Chicago Cubs. The Cubs have lost 14 of 28, the Cardinals 14 of 33.

Jammed in between are Brooklyn and Philadelphia, tied for second; Milwaukee in fourth; New York, fifth; and Cincinnati, sixth.

No other games were played in the majors yesterday. The Giants were scheduled in Philadelphia but were rained out.

The Friday action, as usual is almost entirely at night. The only day game matches Milwaukee against the Cubs in Chicago. St. Louis entertains Cincinnati, New York is at Philadelphia and the Pirates limp into Brooklyn.

In the American League the Yankees play their first home night game, with Boston furnishing the opposition. Baltimore goes to Cleveland, Chicago to Detroit and Philadelphia to Washington.

Private Eyes Not Uncommon In Big Loops

NEW YORK (AP)—So the Philadelphia Phillies put a secret tail on second baseman Granny Hamner.

"So what?" baseball men ask. Private eyes are nothing new in baseball—strictly old stuff.

"It's my understanding that all major league clubs, at one time or another, have had their players' habits investigated," said Commissioner Ford Frick.

"Sure, we all have done it and do it still," acknowledged another highly placed baseball figure. "It's business. It's for the protection of baseball's integrity."

Hamner got suspicious of a man tailing him and had him arrested. The man turned out to be an investigator hired by Phil's owner Bob Carpenter and Hamner cried, "Gestapo tactics."

Old-time Yankees recall that Col. Jacob Ruppert once hired a detective to spy on members of his Yankees whom he suspected of violating training rules.

The detective once caught the same train with the team, going to St. Louis. He posed as a traveling salesman and became very chummy with Babe Ruth, Bob Meusel, Wally Pipp and others.

At St. Louis, he suggested the players be his guests. He took a bunch of them to a night club, where he brought out drinks and pretty girls. Then he lined them all up and posed them for a picture, with himself included.

A few days later the players were called into Ruppert's office and confronted with the picture and the private detective.

Giardello Slated To Meet Langlois

NEW YORK (AP)—Joey Giardello's reaction to the Bobo Olson-Rocky Castellani title fight announcement is the key to his middleweight bout with Pierre Langlois tonight in Madison Square Garden.

If Giardello, the No. 1 contender, decides to take out his disappointment on Langlois, the Frenchman could be his fourth straight knock-out victim. If Joey still is deeply disturbed about being bypassed by the champ, he may not be in the mood for a top effort.

Giardello has been promised an October shot at the champ, but in order for that fight to come off, Olson must not lose to Castellani and Giardello must not lose to anybody.

Agronomy Tour For 1954 Set Next Thursday

The annual Pickaway County Agronomy Tour has been set for next Thursday. A "rain date" will be Monday, May 31.

The tour will start at 9:30 a. m. at the Paul Peck farm, located two miles south of Atlanta and just west of State Route 277 on Judas Road. It will then proceed in the order given to farms of the following: Hoyt Martin, Russell Wardell, Norman Godden, Bill Radcliff, Hewitt Cromley, Bob Baum, Wayne Brown, Bill Green and J. M. Hedges.

Those participating should take a sack lunch to be eaten at the state roadside park located on State Route 23 north of South Bloomfield. Dr. D. R. Dodd, agronomy specialist from Ohio State University, will be on the tour and will be available at the noon hour for a question-and-answer period.

Points of interest will be: Birds-foot Trefoil seedings, fertilization in wheat, spittle bug and aphid control in meadows, good meadows seeded in wheat and oats, misuse of good land, Bush Hog demonstration, recently completed farm pond, Canadian pasture mixture, land improvement program, an Up Ground trench and a self-fed trench silo.

ON EACH FARM the group will study the relationship of good rotations, fertilization programs, and water conservation and how these practices have contributed to better crop yields, even through the drought of last year.

For more details of the tour and the time schedule for each farm, contact either Larry Best, County Agent, at 465, or Don Archer, conservationist, at 727.

4-H Will Observe Rural Life Sunday

Many of Ohio's 4-H Clubs, in Pickaway County and other sections, will observe Rural Life Sunday in their local churches on May 23.

Clubs in some communities conduct church services, with special attention to the Christian values in rural life. Other groups help with the service, and some attend church in a body.

The first American observance of Rural Life Sunday was in 1929. Commenting on the tradition, H. W. Harshfield, state 4-H Club leader, said:

"Rural Life Sunday helps rural youth understand and appreciate the stewardship that people who work with the soil have with God. It enables 4-H Club members to recognize spiritual values and character building opportunities, symbolized in the 'heart H' of 4-H Club work."

Nursing Schools Signups Booming

CLEVELAND (AP)—Enrollment of Negro girls in approved Ohio nursing schools has more than doubled in the last four years, Miss Eleanor Swartz of Columbus told a convention of the Ohio State Nurses Assn. yesterday.

Miss Swartz, secretary-treasurer of the Ohio State Nurses Board, said there were 54 Negro nurses in 12 schools in 1950 and 130 in 27 schools at present.
